PROPERTY GUIDE

ELEVATED RURAL VISTA

AMID green pastures and tall mature trees, the elevated four-bedroom brick-veneer home at 4 Tyntynder South Road, Tyntynder South sits on a red sandy loam rise.

The recently subdivided 4.4-acre block is just seven kilometres from the centre Swan Hill, beside the EF Butler Reserve which includes the Quarter Horse Club and Campdraft facility.

It has both room for a couple of horses or livestock, a quintessential rural lifestyle, while still enjoying the convenience of nearby schools, businesses and services.

Behind mature shade trees, the home enjoys an easterly vista, overlooking the front paddock of strawberry clover.

It opens onto a tiled formal entry, with polished timber flooring leading to the formal lounge to the right and open-plan kitchen, dining and family room to the left.

The stylish kitchen features dark cabinetry with timber benchtops, and is fitted with a 900mm freestanding electric oven and cooktop, and a double bowl ceramic sink, and is enhanced by a powered walk-in pantry.

The timber-top preparation bench is inlaid with a marble cutting board and has a clear view of the easterly vista out the wide windows.

The open living space is kept cosy in the cooler months with a woodfire heater.

The carpeted primary bedroom has been recently renovated, and has a wall of built-in robes, bedside pendant lighting, and a ceiling fan.

The white tile ensuite is complete with a heated towel rail and a wide glass shower.

The three remaining bedrooms have built-in wardrobes and polished timber flooring.

Stylish with black-and-white tiled flooring, the main bathroom continues the dark cabinetry with timbertop for the vanity, and has exposed, modern federation plumbing in the glass shower.

The tiling continues to the passageway, where the laundry and plenty of storage is concealed behind sliding doors, with room for both a washer and dryer.

Between the home and the detached guest house is a paved courtyard complete with a 10mx4m self-cleaning inground pool, covered by a shade sail, and a large Bali-style hut fitted with a ceiling fan and heater.

The single-bedroom guest house has a living space and a full ensuite, with stylish exposed beam raked ceilings, ceiling fans, and reverse cycle air conditioning, comfortable for multi-generational living, teenagers, or guests.

Included in the property is an enclosed 16mx9m shed with concrete floors, power and workbenches, and a semi-enclosed 16mx9m annexe, which provide ample room for vehicle storage including caravans and boats, and workspace.

The home is serviced by two megalitres of high-reliability water, with a 50,000-litre settling tank and 100,000 litres of rainwater connected to the house, for a secure water supply.

The front paddock is pastured with strawberry clover, and serviced by overhead sprays from an independent irrigation pump from the channel.

With enough room for the whole family to grow and explore, and ready to move in, this property offers a rural lifestyle on a manageable block. ●
